

Signs of Winter

As we move from Autumn into Winter there are many signs to look out for that plants and animals are preparing for Winter. How many of these have you seen? Wrap up warm and get out to try to spot these signs in your local park or nature reserve.

Frosty mornings.

Redwings eating the last berries.

Jelly ear fungus in woodlands.

Crunchy or squishy leaves.

Footprints in the snow.

Red Holly berries.